ACCIDENTAL DEATH

Bedford Township Lad Killed by Gun in Hands of Brother.

While Charles Dibert and wife, who reside about one and one-half miles from Imbertown in what is known as "Dibert Corner," were at this place last Saturday afternoon, a sad accident occurred about 3 o'clock which resulted in the death of their second son, Lloyd, a lad about 13 years of age.

The boys were examining a shot gun when it was accidentally discharged while in the hands of the elder brother Ralph, aged 16 years. The shot struck Lloyd on the side of the face, severing his ear and making a large wound in his head. Medical aid was summoned but the lad died shortly after 6 o'clock that evening.

Besides his parents, two brothers and two sisters survive: Ralph, Edgar and Irene, at home, and Mary, wife of Howard Dively of Bedford Township. The funeral was held in the Reformed Church at Pleasant Hill Tuesday morning, Rev. Edward A. G. Hermann conducting the services. The stricken family have the sympathy of the entire community.

ATTEMPTED MURDER

Joseph Banks of Everett Plays Desperate—Attorney Rouse Injured.

On Tuesday of this week John W. Rouse, Esq., made information before Justice H. C. Davidson against Joseph Banks of Everett, charging him with aggravated assault and battery and attempt to kill. Banks struck Rouse twice on the head last Saturday night with an iron poker, cutting a gash about an inch and a half long, and struck him in the face with his fist. He had in his hand an open razor with which he struck at Rouse's daughter, saying that he would kill both her and her father.

Constable Fetter of Bedford Township went to Everett the same day, arrested Banks and brought him before Squire Davidson, who committed him to jail on default of bail, for his appearance at court.

LEGISLATORS AT WORK

Penrose Re-Elected—Miller and Oster on Committees.

With a joint majority of 152 votes Boies Penrose was on Tuesday elected to the U. S. Senate for a third term of six years. The ballot in the Senate was: Penrose, 38; George M. Dimeling, 10; Governor Stuart, 1; Treasurer Sheatz, 1. In the House the ballot resulted: Penrose, 162; Dimeling, 32; William Potter, 1; Governor Stuart, 1. Eight Republican members of the House had themselves recorded as "present but not voting." Senator Miller and Representative Oster of this county voted for Penrose. The Democrats of both the House and Senate voted for Dimeling.

Senator Miller is chairman of the Law and Order Committee, which will have much to do with disposing with local option bills, and has a place on the following: Agriculture, Appropriations, Education, Federal Relations, Finance, Game and Fisheries, New Counties and County Seats, Public Health and Sanitation, Public Roads and Highways.

Representative Oster will preside over the Pensions and Gratuities Committee and will serve on the following ones: Agriculture, Law and Order, Public Health and Sanitation, Public Roads.

Two clerkships were given to Bedford Countians, Carl A. Bradley getting a place as transcribing clerk and W. D. Lambert securing a place as clerk to a committee.

Both branches adjourned Wednesday until Monday evening.

Miss Edna Gorsuch

Edna, youngest daughter of Thomas V. Gorsuch, died at her home in Everett on Sunday, January 17, of tuberculosis at the age of 17 years, 11 months and 26 days. She was born in Everett in 1892 and had been a member of the Methodist Church at that place since 1902.

Miss Gorsuch was one of Everett's prettiest and most popular young ladies. During visits to her sister at this place she made many friends, who mourn her early death. Besides her father, the following brothers and sisters survive: Mary, wife of Charles Ross, of this place; Mrs. Dorsey Beagle and Irvin Gorsuch, of Everett; and Delia at home. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon, Rev. J. R. Van Pelt conducting the services. The pall bearers were Chris. Wagner, Walter Clapper, Leslie Blackburn and Roy Reader, of Everett, and Walter Allen and Ralph Snell, of this place.

Isaac Ebersole

At his home near Salemville, on Monday, January 18, Isaac Ebersole died of injuries sustained by being thrown from a horse on November 23. He was born near that place January 6, 1845, and was aged, at death, 64 years and 12 days. He was married June 25, 1876, to Miss Harriet Hartle of Claysburg, who survives him, with two daughters, Mrs. Franklin Walters of Queen and Mrs. C. F. Zeak of Altoona. Two brothers also survive: Abraham of Altoona and Henry of New Enterprize. Mr. Ebersole had been a lifelong resident of the vicinity where he died and will be greatly missed by those who knew him.

The funeral was held at 10 o'clock yesterday morning at the Brethren Church, with which he was connected. His remains were taken to the Holsinger cemetery near Baker's Summit, where they will be laid to rest beside his younger daughter Melva.

WOMAN MURDERED

Miss Charlotte Ward Found Near Home in Monroe Township

WITH SKULL CRUSHED

Absence From Home Cause Search—Body Under Snow—Brother Suspected.

The murder of Miss Charlotte Ward near Robinsonville, in the southeast section of this county, has caused considerable excitement not only in that vicinity but all over the county.

Miss Ward, who was 47 years, and four months of age, made her home with her mother, Mrs. Henry Ward, and a brother Moses, who is a deaf mute. Between 8 and 9 o'clock on the morning of January 13 she went to the woods near her home to gather pine knots and did not return. Becoming alarmed at her continued absence a search was instituted and about 3 o'clock the following afternoon (Thursday) her dead body was found along the roadside some distance from her home. Examination developed the fact that she had been killed with a blunt hammer or hatchet, as her head was crushed.

The body was face downward, with the clothing arranged, and covered with a slight fall of snow.

The body was taken to the home of her mother that evening and prepared for burial. Funeral services were conducted Friday afternoon by Rev. A. W. May of Clearville. Besides her mother and the brother above mentioned, deceased is survived by a brother Simon, residing in Buck's Valley, Fulton County.

Coroner's Verdict

At the inquest, held at the residence of Mrs. Ominda Ward near Robinsonville on Tuesday, January 18, a jury consisting of six citizens of Monroe Township—Samuel Cooper, W. S. Leighty, Jacob Mills, G. S. Gordon, William Markle and J. J. Robison, and Dr. J. C. Hanks, Coroner,—rendered the following verdict: "After having viewed the body of Charlotte Ward and hearing the evidence as submitted by witnesses subpoenaed and examined, we find that said Charlotte Ward came to her death at the hands of a second party or, in other words, was murdered, but could not find evidence enough to place the fact on any person or persons."

The matter is now in the hands of District Attorney S. H. Sell.

Commenting upon the murder the Cumberland Times says: "She lived with her mother and a brother, whose mind is affected, and he is vicious at times. The supposition is that he killed his sister in one of his rages, and that his mother knows but will not tell. Some years ago it is said he killed his brother."

David M. Jones

David M. Jones died at his home in Saxton on Sunday, January 17, aged 72 years and 10 days. He was born in South Wales and came to America at the age of 21, settling at Broad Top City. In 1861 he married Miss Harriet Lloyd of Coalmont who, with four children, survives: Mrs. Kate McBride of Pittsburg, Mrs. Jennie Thomas of Salem, O.; John of Hopewell, and David of Saxton.

He enlisted in Co. B, 147th Reg. Pa. Vol. in 1861 and was honorably discharged after three years' service; he then re-enlisted and served two years longer. Mr. Jones was foreman of the railroad shops at Saxton for a number of years, served as constable, and later engaged in the hotel business. He was one of the oldest and best known residents of that place.

The funeral was held in the Presbyterian Church at 2 p. m. Wednesday, Rev. Paul B. Rupp conducting the services. Interment in the Pockler cemetery.

Thomas Ralph Imler

Thomas Ralph Imler, after an illness of but four days from inflammation of the bowels, died at the home of his parents, Lawrence and Della Imler, Osterburg, on January 9, aged 17 years, three months and 14 days. He was well and favorably known in that community and will be greatly missed by his many friends.

His parents, a brother Edgar, and sister Ethel survive him. The funeral took place at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon in the Reformed Church at Osterburg, Rev. J. W. Zehring conducting the services.

Lewis Drew

Lewis Drew, a former resident of South Bedford Township, died in Cumberland at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Bertha Spriggs, on Tuesday, January 18, at the age of 59 years. He was a native of a southern state and came to this county at the close of the war. His wife, who was Miss Mary Bagley, died a number of years ago. One child survives. The body was brought to this place yesterday morning for interment.

John Graftious

At Brumbaugh on January 10, John Graftious, died at the age of 79 years and nine months. He lived the greater part of his life in the lower part of Bedford County and had moved from near Saxton to Brumbaugh but a short while before his death. He was well known throughout that section of the county. His body was taken to Coaldale, where the services were held January 13, conducted by Rev. F. W. McGuire.

THE PRESCRIPTION

Tells How Any One Can Prepare Simple Home-Made Mixture, Said to Overcome Rheumatism.

There is so much Rheumatism here in our neighborhood now that the following advice will be highly appreciated by those who suffer:

Get from any good pharmacy one-half ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce Compound Kargon, three ounces of Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla. Shake these well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime; also drink plenty of good water.

It is claimed that there are few victims of this dread and tortuous disease who will fail to find ready relief, and in most cases a permanent cure is the result.

This simple recipe is said to strengthen and cleanse the eliminative tissues of the Kidneys so that they can filter and strain from the blood and system the poisons, acids and waste matter, which cause not only Rheumatism, but numerous other diseases. Every man or woman here who feels that their kidneys are not healthy and active, or who suffers from any urinary trouble whatever, should not hesitate to make up this mixture, as it is certain to do much good, and may save you from much misery and suffering after while.

Our home druggists say they will either supply the ingredients or mix the prescription ready to take if our readers ask them.

BUYS NEW HOME

Johnstown Daily Democrat Secures a Fine Site for the Future.

One of the interesting New Year's announcements is that Warren Worth Bailey and Edward Homer Bailey, proprietors of the Johnstown Daily Democrat, have purchased the building and grounds located at 331-333 Main Street in that city and that on and after April 1 next The Democrat will make that place its permanent home.

The purchase is regarded by high authorities in Johnstown as one of the most important in recent years. The site has a total frontage on Main Street of a little more than 40 feet and runs back a depth of 132 feet to an alley. There is also a wide side alley, practically giving The Democrat a corner location. Main Street is Johnstown's most important thoroughfare and The Democrat's site is valuable for several reasons. All the street car lines in the city pass it; it is right in the midst of the theatres, where thousands of people congregate every day and night; it is close to the City Hall, convenient to the Pennsylvania Railroad station, hotels and Johnstown's big stores.

The building will be greatly improved at once. A business office somewhat resembling a modern bank will be put in, tiled floors and a fine plate glass front to be features.

All this goes to show that The Democrat has made marked progress. It is without doubt one of the best dailies in the State of Pennsylvania. It is the only Associated Press paper in Johnstown, which means that its news service is by far the best, the Associated Press being the greatest news enterprise in the world.

The Daily Democrat is $3 a year and the weekly $1 a year.

DANGER IN DELAY

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous for Bedford People to Neglect.

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease follow in merciless succession. Don't neglect your kidneys. Cure the kidneys with the certain and safe remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills, which has cured people right here in this locality.

Mrs. H. M. Elliott, Water St., Hyndman, Pa., says: "I was in a run down condition for some time before I realized that my kidneys were disordered. I tired easily and was very nervous and languid. Doan's Kidney Pills had been used in our family with good results, so I decided to try them and got a box. It did not require all the contents to restore my kidneys to a healthy condition and my strength gradually returned until I was well. Doan's Kidney Pills effected a complete cure and I therefore earnestly endorse them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other. Jan. 15-21.

HECKERMAN LETTER

"Dad" Makes First Trip to Spencer, W. Va.

Columbus, O., January 16, '09. Wednesday morning the mercury here registered one above zero. The wind blew and the blizzard, a good old fashioned one, was here in dead earnest. There had been a good big snow storm earlier in the week, and thousands trod the streets in parade the day Judge Harmon was inaugurated, with the snow falling very fast. These were the sized flakes grandmother used to tell us kids about when we would crowd around her as she sat on the low rocker, every now and then taking a wee pinch of rappee. This storm reminded me very much of one I was in once up in Utica, N. Y. Yes, that is the name of the place; I had most forgot; there they put the hearses on runners about Thanksgiving time and keep them on till about Easter. The storm at Utica reminded me of one in far away Maine where the snow was so deep that one could start at the peak of the barn roof and slide away to the school house.

The weather man did not miss this blizzard very much; the snow came all right; it was white, like snow ought to be but we poor pedestrians who had to face it, with thin overcoats and no mufflers at all, suffered some. With all my discomfort I had to laugh frequently to myself to see the fellows shoveling and sweeping to beat the band, and when they were done with the banks, all they had to do was to go away back and begin again. The jacks might have stayed inside and waited for it to stop snowing, but as their doings were none of my business, I kept mum and hurried on to my warm room, which was heated by natural gas that cost 18 cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

I have been invited to take some stock in a heating apparatus that is said to produce heat at a small cost; it is represented to be a wooden box, any size you want, filled with excelsior. I can't tell the balance as that is the secret. Eh! Have also been invited to join the cheap living club. The promoters of this last are experimenting by feeding a horse on one straw a day. If he survives the Easter vacation reckon Dad 'll jine, case it is kind of hard eating since a dentist known to you all, two years ago ruined the left side of my face.

I want to tell you something about Spencer, W. Va. My first trip there was last week; see it takes so long to get there that heretofore I have not taken the time to go to this greasy spot. I call it greasy because it is situated in the centre of five oil fields. My how thankful Bedford would be with but one of the five oil fields. Spencer is the county seat of Roane County; its Court House, where many think they get injustice instead of justice, is half as good as ours at home. Two thousand white people make up the inhabitants. No negroes in the county at all. They get their water supply from a small creek and the water out of the creek at home is splendid compared to this at Spencer. The oil wells that surround the place flow good quantities; don't have to harness them up and pump them. The town has grown very much of late. 'Tis a dry town as are many in the state. Two hotels with good, big prices feed the hungry who come their way and have the price. They have natural gas but no coal. The second largest state insane asylum is situated here. There are the most beautiful grounds about the buildings which will accommodate a thousand; the buildings are of brick with stone trimmings. Three banks are open every day but Sunday and legal holidays, and say silently "Come in and let us handle your cash; we will allow you four per cent. and compound it every three months." Roane County is one of the richest counties in agriculture in the state. They raise mostly cattle, sheep and poultry. Every street and alley in the town is paved and they are dandy. The property owners must pay two-thirds and the city pays the other third the cost of paving. How about some of this kind of work for Bedford?

There are a number of manufacturing and wholesale houses here. The Spencer Wholesale Grocery House is among the largest. This was established a few years ago with George Fairfax as manager, and by the way he is one of the most genial as well as the handsomest men you ever met. He always has a kind word and a smile which go a long ways toward smoothing the road of the traveling man. I saw Jim Gilchrist last week. Out this way they call him daddy and he really looks quite patriarchal because of his flowing white beard. He said that they were all well. Frank Dunkle of Parkersburg wants a few car loads of apples and is even now ready to receive samples, but prepay the express on the samples you apple buyers may send him. Yours truly,

M. P. Heckerman.

UPSET STOMACH

Ends Five Minutes After Taking Some Diapepsin

EAT YOUR FAVORITE FOODS

Stops Fermentation and Cures All Stomach Trouble Before You Realize It.

Take your sour stomach—or maybe you call it Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Gastritis or Catarrh of the Stomach; it doesn't matter—take your stomach trouble right with you to your Pharmacist and ask him to open a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and let you eat one 22-grain Triangule and see if within five minutes there is left any trace of your stomach misery.

The correct name for your trouble is Food Fermentation—food souring; the Digestive organs become weak, there is lack of gastric juice; your food is only half digested, and you become affected with loss of appetite, pressure and fullness after eating, vomiting, nausea, heartburn, griping in bowels, tenderness in the pit of stomach, bad taste in mouth, constipation, pain in limbs, sleeplessness, belching of gas, biliousness, sick headache, nervousness, dizziness and many other similar symptoms.

If your appetite is fickle, and nothing tempts you, or you belch gas or if you feel bloated after eating, or your food lies like a lump of lead on your stomach, you can make up your mind that at the bottom of all this there is but one cause—fermentation of undigested food.

Prove to yourself, after your next meal, that your stomach is as good as any; that there is nothing really wrong. Stop this fermentation and begin eating what you want without fear of discomfort or misery.

Almost instant relief is waiting for you. It is merely a matter of how soon you take a little Diapepsin.

HOUSEHOLD NOTES

Keep tacks in bottles. It saves opening many boxes to find a particular kind.

When cleaning house use plenty of turpentine in the scrub water. It means certain death to moths.

Left-over cereals need not be wasted. They are excellent fried like mush and eaten with syrup or honey.

Covering the pan when fish is frying is apt to make the fish soft. A solid, firm meat, that is at the same time flaky, is what the good cook likes.

Ammonia should not be used in the evening or near a fire, nor should the bottle be allowed to remain uncorked. It is inflammable and its fumes are not specially healthful.

A loaf of bread will keep fresh much longer if placed in a covered stone crock. Wrap in a large cloth to exclude air and keep the crock in a cool place. It is nicer than a tin vessel and much better than keeping bread in the refrigerator.

Colds contracted at this season of the year are quickly relieved with Bees Laxative Cough Syrup. Its laxative quality rids the system of the cold. Pleasant to take. Best for children for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. Sold by Ed. D. Heckerman.

Utopia

There is a garden where lilies And roses are side by side; And all day between them in silence The silken butterflies glide.

I may not enter the garden, Though I know the road thereto; And morn by morn to the gateway I see the children go.

They bring back light on their faces; But they can not bring back to me What the lilies say to the roses, Or the songs of the butterflies be. —Francis Turner Paigrave.

CATARRH CURED

No Cure, No Pay, is a Most Generous Offer.

To get an antiseptic strong enough to kill germs and not destroy the tissues of the membrane at the same time, has been a problem which was never solved until the discovery of Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me).

Hyomei is prepared from eucalyptus, the most powerful yet healing antiseptic known. Breathe it through the inhaler over the inflamed and germ-ridden membrane four or five times a day, and in a few days the germs will disappear.

The inflamed condition will go, too, and the snuffing, hawking and offensive breath, and the discharge of mucous and crusts in the nose will cease.

Then why should any catarrh sufferer hesitate, when F. W. Jordan has such faith in Hyomei that he offers to return your money if after a fair trial Hyomei does not cure catarrh.

A complete Hyomei outfit, including the inhaler, costs $1, and extra bottles, if afterwards needed, cost but 50 cents. Hyomei also cures asthma, croup, sore throat, coughs, colds or grip.

MI-ONA Cures Dyspepsia.

Your money back if it don't. Gives immediate relief from heartburn, sour stomach, stomach distress and sick headache. 50 cents a large box at F. W. JORDAN'S.

RECIPES

Brambles

One cup raisins chopped fine, (I grind mine in meat chopper), one lemon grated and a little of the juice, about one tablespoon of cracker crumbs (can grind these too), one egg and one-half cup of sugar. Mix thoroughly and bake in rich pie crust rolled very thin and cut in circles. Fold over same as for turnovers or put layer of filling and then a top crust. Cut in squares when cold. These are fine for luncheons or to carry for dinner. Be sure and have oven good and hot or they will be tough.

Feather Cake

Seven eggs, save whites for icing; 1½ cups sugar, three cups flour, one cup water, one-fourth cup chocolate, three teaspoonfuls baking powder, one tablespoon butter, one teaspoon of allspice, ground cinnamon, ground nutmeg, ground cloves and allspice, one teaspoon extract vanilla. Mix first butter and sugar, then yolks, then add chocolate and spices, then the flour, then the well-beaten whites of four eggs, then extract of vanilla. This makes a three-layer cake. Put together with boiled icing and chopped walnuts. One cup sugar, one half-cup water, one half teaspoonful of vanilla. Boil until it threads. Beat two eggs thoroughly and add icing while beating well; then put nuts on layers over icing.

The Bed

It matters not how handsome the appointments of the room, how soft and luxurious the carpet, how fine and white the linen, if the bed is poorly and loosely made it gives the whole apartment an untidy look that no amount of elegance can atone for. In good bedmaking one of the first requisites is a perfect adaptation of mattress and springs to the bedstead. Next, a well-made mattress, whether it be of hair, wool, moss or excelsior, and over this "puff" or mattress cover, made of thin, unbleached cotton cloth, tied with tidy cotton. Have the "puff" large enough to tuck under the sides of the mattress to avoid curling under the sheet.

Stops itching instantly. Cures piles, eczema, salt rheum, tetter, itch, hives, herpes, scabies—Doan's Ointment. At any drug store.

CAMPAIGNING ON THE PLAINS BY BUFFALO BILL

FROM TRUE TALES OF THE PLAINS
COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY WILLIAM F. CODY

I HAVE been many times asked if the solitude of the plains was not burdensome and oppressive to a man who was traveling along some of the vast expanses of the west, where for hundreds of miles there was no one to see but himself, his horses, a boundless level of prairie grass, the blue sky above, with its stars by day and its stars by night. At first the question seemed strange, but I soon understood how a man who has lived all his life in daily touch with Broadway might go melancholy mad in a single day in a region where he could see and hear absolutely nothing but the wonderful panorama of nature and its voices. There was a multitude of things around him to arouse interest, which to the plainsman meant safety or danger, life or death, but which would mean to such a man, indeed, no more than so many blades of grass. This silent excitement of the solitary ride over the broad prairie, where the city man would see nothing but dull monotony, was something more excitingly fierce than anything I had seen in a town, and I had seen Wall Street crazed. I have watched street riots, I have witnessed royal pageants, and I have seen men lynched. These things stir the blood, but they all seem pale to what I have felt when out alone on a scout.

Consequently the scout on duty was compelled to invent ruses of his own to assist him in emergency. And when some extremely dangerous mission had to be undertaken the scout often puzzled the commander by refusing aid in the shape of a squad or any chosen number of soldiers to accompany him. But actually it was the part of discretion to do so, as going alone or with one or two chosen comrades whom you knew to be true blue was a precaution that favored your own safety, as every scout naturally picked the very best mounts and rode one and had what is called a "lead horse," well trained, to follow and stand by him in every emergency. He had only himself to look out for, and with a good lead horse in a race for life had a fresh remount. Therefore I always kept myself well provided with well trained steeds, who became wonderfully proficient in scenting danger and even game. The fact that your horses were unshod was another puzzle to a trailing Indian, as a shod horse print gave him a clew to a white man's presence or the proximity of the military. One of my ruses was to take with me a bugler of the Fifth cavalry named Kershaw, who developed a capacity for comradeship in such adventures. Kershaw, after retiring from the army, became chief of police at Chester, Pa., near Philadelphia, and died there several years ago. Generally I preferred, like others, going alone, as then I had only myself to look out for.

I took Kershaw with me often, as I knew the country was infested with

The bugle call threw them into confusion large bands of Indians, when it was too dangerous to travel in daytime and your object could be best accomplished in the night. His value as "a striker" can be best explained by the following incident: On one occasion we slept during the day in a well wooded box canyon, near a little stream of water, with plenty of grass for the horses to browse on, and at the same time we were hidden from view. Toward evening, when we thought it convenient to continue our scout, just as we were about to emerge from our hiding place a large band of Indians assembled down the canyon to camp for the night. Mounted as they were, it was useless for us to attempt flight, so, moving farther backward in the woods, we remained concealed until they had settled down. There was no way to get out except a dash through the Indian village. We dared not stay till daylight, as they might find our trail, and they would have us cornered, so we quietly waited until we had settled down, when we mounted and sneaked toward the edge of the village, where there was an avenue of escape. Their faithful dogs, of course, alarmed the camp, so the best we could do was to make a dash out, wheel and fire as quick as we could, and Kershaw with his faithful bugle blew the charge. Riding quickly around the village, we made another little firing at them and sounded the bugle charge again. A repetition of this at another point and a bugle charge threw them into confusion, stampeded their ponies, prevented their quick mounting, and while they went in one direction bold Kershaw and myself were riding in another. Naturally, of course, this gave the Indians something to think of in the night, while we got to the post and informed Colonel Royal of the location and, with Major Brown, Captain Bache, Lieutenant Jack Hayes and a detachment of cavalry, went on the trail, which was followed for two days, and the Indians were severely punished, with but few casualties on our side.

Getting fresh meat for Fort Sheridan, we were greatly annoyed at times on our buffalo hunt by being jumped by the Indians, who in those days were generally out with the same object. Many a hot skirmish or many a run for it was necessary. Buffalo naturally were some distance from the fort, and I thought of a trick by which I could give my red brothers a surprise. In a run for it a few miles from the fort was a hogback that furnished a good defensive position, and I had often noticed that it had a long, deep, bushy ravine. It was in the nature almost of a natural fortification. So I thought how I could get them to repeat their many attacks on me when I ran to this particular point, from which I could signal for help to the fort with hasty grass fires and "smoke that talked." Buffaloes were at the time plentiful, so I secured Kershaw and about fifteen good marksmen, with provisions for the trip, and started out before daylight for the hunt. Hiding the soldiers in this ravine, we proceeded on our journey and had not the wagons half filled before my striker, Bill White, announced Indians in the distance, "and a big band, too," said Bill. Away we went for the hogback, and it was lucky split, with the Indians gaining on us every minute. We reached it, threw our wagons into position, packed our buffalo hams out for breakfast, threw some straw about and gathered up some dead grass to make a signal. The Indians, seeing it, knew that relief would come and they hadn't a moment to lose if they wanted our scalps. On they came, dashing around. Myself and teamsters and five or six of us banded away at them, they circled around and drew off, as they commonly did, and at a distance of about seventy-five yards from the ambush. As usual, they bunched together, listening to the wrangle of the chief. Bang! Bang! Bang! And the old Winchester began to talk from the ravine, while Kershaw with his bugle blew the charge, the Indians tumbling here, there and everywhere out of their saddles, the rest scattering with the speed of jack rabbits in all directions. Assembling on the distant hills, they realized that the jig was up, particularly when they saw the cavalry coming in the distance. Somehow or other during the remainder of the season they never seemed to molest the butcher wagon with the same appetite. And the fort always had fresh meat.

A country of such vast expanse, unsettled save for a few forts as places of refuge and succor so comparatively few in number as to be, as it were, like pebbles on the seashore, rendered the campaign in winter, with the blizzard conditions, not only hazardous and dangerous, but even if successful, combated attended by excruciating suffering. This the old army officers and soldiers of the early campaigns will never forget, the physical discomfort and mental worrying with climatic conditions far exceeding those that defeated Napoleon in his winter campaign in the region about Moscow.

I relate two or three examples. On one occasion I was out with some of the Fifth cavalry under the command of Lieutenant Bache, a descendant of Benjamin Franklin and a member of a well known Philadelphia family and, by the way, a magnificent young officer, who in various campaigns showed a bravery and dash that one would not associate with his aristocratic bearing and extreme gentility. A blizzard arose. Fortunately we were near shelter in the shape of some bluffs and scattered wood. When the blizzard was over it was necessary for us to strike out on the path of duty. The thermometer was away below zero and the wind cutting and sharp.

On coming back from the lead to consult with Lieutenant Bache I passed by him to caution the sergeants to look out for their men from the cold and see that they did not become drowsy, and on my return I found indications of numbness and drowsiness even in the case of the lieutenant. I aroused him and appealed to him to pull him self together, but he was just in the humor to resent it. In consequence I had to take the law into my own hands and shake him up in lively style, first taking the precaution of slipping his revolver and placing it out of his reach. As he did not respond to my efforts on the horse, I simply dismounted, pulled him from the horse and used him in what one would think a rather rude and rough manner. In fact, I had to make a punch bag and foot-ball out of him, much to the astonishment of some of the young troopers, who came up and were going to avenge my apparent discourtesy to their officer, though some of the older men explained its necessity. Eventually I got the lieutenant on his feet, and while our horses were being taken care of an old sergeant and myself hustled him along on a little foot race until we got his blood in circulation, and so, overcoming the danger, we eventually arrived safely at the fort.

On another occasion when out with General Eugene A. Carr, with whom I consulted and who, by the way, was one of the best posted and equipped Indian fighters and frontiersmen on the roster of the army, we both concluded that on account of the peculiar balmy condition of the weather a blizzard would be the next thing in order. So we resolved to strike camp early, as we were then in a bleak country and over fifty miles from wood and water. This wood and water were in a lower country, where there was only one gap which would furnish descent into the valley, and that had to be reached by careful attention to direction.

Starting early and getting the point of the wind, we had not gone far before old Boreas began his revels. General Carr, of course, gave orders to the commanding officers of companies in regard to preventing drowsiness of the men and to quit them in case of any of them succumbing to the cold. I shall long remember that trip, for it was necessary for me to go by the wind and not flinch from it, for in the blinding blizzard we would all soon be lost. The direction brought the wind against my left ear, and, as the storm soon became so blinding that even a black horse could not be seen ten feet from the picket ropes, lariet lines were scattered along to guide the men, who kept so close almost as to touch each horse's tail. But I dared not change my position for fear of losing the direction, so for eight hours I held my left cheek and ear against the storm and, of course, suffered greatly from frostbite. I dared not dismount, as did many of the others. General Carr himself walking nearly all the distance, leading his horse. I had stuffed my ear with a piece of saddle blanket, but notwithstanding that the eardrum was frozen, and for a time it gave me intense pain and suffering, and up to the present day it has quite affected my hearing on that side. But by this pertinacity we reached the gap, and when I had made the point successfully and the descent down into the canyon became assured there were never 1,500 men who let out such yells and peans of joy.

On another occasion I had a very trying experience when General Penrose's command had been sent to reconnoiter the surrounding country by General Sheridan and were known to have been somewhere in a blizzard. Not hearing from them for several days, we knew they were up against it, but as all trails were covered and obliterated by the drifting snow it was a serious problem to find them. General Carr, of course, consulted with me in the matter, and he relates the incident in detail in "Carr's Campaigns" of my success in finding the men. In this instance, knowing in what direction they had gone, I had to travel fifteen miles to find a ridge that they would cross and that the storm would blow the snow away from and leave bare. Following this ridge for five miles or more, I found the trail of their horses and wagons where they had crossed and by the hoof tracks located the direction in which they had gone. I succeeded in reaching them, snowed in and in a terrible condition, for everything had been eaten up to such an extent that the horses and mules had eaten the manes and tails off each other. Returning the next day, relief was sent, and the commands became reunited.

FOR LACK OF EVIDENCE

For lack of evidence Justice Williams of Hopewell last week dismissed two suits brought by the representative of the State Fish Commission against a number of citizens of Morrison's Cove for violating the fish laws.

We believe the fish laws should be observed, but in the catching of carp during the letting off of the two dams in the Cove last September, it is held that the law was not violated by the means used. This, however, is not the point. There were hundreds of persons present on both occasions when the dams were let off, and just why the State's agent should go from 50 to 75 miles to secure witnesses is something of a mystery. Though the cases were dismissed the county is in for the costs which are unnecessarily large, because of the distance the witnesses were brought. It would seem that the Commissioner should be capable of judging whether or not he has a case before he proceeds, even if "some gentlemen from a distance" are not able to draw costs from the tills of the county.

EDGAR ALLEN POE

The celebration of his centenary, on an extensive scale, though tardy recognition of his genius, is a worthy tribute to the memory of the author of The Bells and The Raven.

Edgar Allen Poe, born in Boston in 1809, left an orphan, adopted and educated by a wealthy Virginia gentleman, though erratic, was a brilliant genius. No shaft is necessary to perpetuate his name; his productions are an enviable monument. He is loved by his friends for the beauty of his poems but condemned by his enemies for the weakness for drink which, according to their claim, caused his premature death. Cultured and refined he, like many great men, had a weakness which took him captive. The one thing above all others that England's loved poet Laureate, Alfred Tennyson, wanted to see in America was the simple tomb in Westminster church yard, Baltimore, of Edgar Allen Poe.

His works are more appreciated an hundred years after his birth than at the time of his death; his genius is being recognized. More charitable is the present generation in viewing the life of the great poet; time has obscured his eccentricities and his weakness, but his literary brilliance is becoming more effulgent.

Deaths of Infants

Eliza Pearl, daughter of Harry and Anne (Pepper) Guyer, died on January 14 at the home of her parents near New Enterprise, aged six months and 10 days. One sister, Ethel, survives. Interment was made at the Koonitz Church last Saturday, Rev. D. T. Detwiler officiating.

David Franklin Hoover died at the home of his parents, Jason and Hattie Hoover, near Koonitz's Mill on January 12, aged six months and 12 days. Rev. Daniel Clapper of Meyersdale had charge of the funeral which occurred at the Koonitz Church last Thursday.

Meeting of Fruit Growers

The Fruit Growers' Association will meet in Everett in the town hall January 30, at 1:30 p. m. sharp. We hope to see a good turnout of the fruit growers in that vicinity and any others who can make it suit to be there. The topic for discussion will be: Pruning and Spraying of Trees. The opening talks will be made by R. F. Lee, S. B. Brown, Glendon Price, and C. R. Drenning. All others are requested to join in the discussion. R. F. Lee, Sec.

OVER THE SNOW

Many Jolly Parties Make Trips to Nearby Places.

A party of young folks from Schellsburg took advantage of the good sledding on Monday and spent the evening at the home of Atty. F. E. Colvin and family, on South Juliana Street.

Twenty of Bedford's young people enjoyed an oyster supper at the home of Martin Beagle and wife at Ashcom Monday evening. The drifted condition of the road, it is said, delayed the party's homeward trip until 7:30 a. m.

A sledload of young people from Bedford partook of a most excellent supper at Shannon Troutman's, near Belden, Wednesday evening. The evening was very pleasantly spent at games.

Seventy-four from Bedford and vicinity and Mann's Choice had a most delightful time at the Metropolitan Hotel, at the latter place Monday evening of this week. The floor of the ball room had been put in excellent condition and was constantly occupied, except while the merry party were enjoying themselves in the dining room. The music was furnished by our popular local organization, the Bedford Orchestra.

UNION S. S. CONVENTION

To be Held in M. E. Church, Rainsburg, on January 28.

Following is the program for the Union Sunday School Convention to be held in the M. E. Church at Rainsburg Thursday afternoon and evening, January 28:

Williams; Some of the Things That Make a Sunday School a Success, Prof. Beery of Huntingdon; Music; Adjournment.

Evening Session, 6:30 O'clock. Music; Devotional Exercise, Rev. Green; How Can the Scholars Help to Improve the Sunday School? Prof. Guyer; The Home Department and How to Organize One, Prof. Beery; What Are the Advantages of Blackboard Work in Sunday School, Miss Bowen; Music; Quarterly Reviews, and How to Make Them Interesting and Effective, Rev. Green and W. S. Lysinger; Music; Query Box; Music; Adjournment.

Each Sunday School in the district is requested to send two delegates. Each school sending delegates will please notify C. P. James, Secretary, not later than Monday, January 25, so arrangements can be made for their entertainment.

A Magnificent Gain

At the recent meeting of the members of the Friend's Cove Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company, the officers who have served since 1895 as President, Secretary and General Agent—S. T. Diehl, H. G. Diehl and S. F. Whetstone—were re-elected, and W. E. Shoemaker was chosen Treasurer for the third time.

When the President, Secretary and General Agent mentioned above were elected 14 years ago the company was carrying on its books $875,000 insurance. The report this year shows a gain in round numbers of $4,000,000, which certainly speaks most favorably of the efficiency of these officers and their re-election was a wise move on the part of the members of the company.

A Miner Injured

Joe Lesniak, aged 23 years, an Austrian miner employed at Six Mile Run, was admitted to the Altoona Hospital Tuesday evening for treatment. While at work in the mine about noon he was caught under a fall of coal and rock and for an hour or more was pinned to the floor. Fellow workmen dug him out and it was discovered that he had been painfully bruised about the body and contused about the hips.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address:

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Miss Effie Miller of Martinsburg attended the funeral of her aunt, Mrs. Henry Miller, last Saturday.

Mrs. Henry S. Miller

Margaret, wife of Henry S. Miller, died at her home here on January 13, after an illness of eight weeks, in her 72d year. She was a daughter of Henry Worder and was born near Helixville on March 2, 1837. Her husband, to whom she was married November 15, 1860, and the following children survive: Martin and Harry, of Martinsburg; Mrs. Annie Callihan of Ryot, Mrs. Margaret Oldham of Helixville and Mrs. Carrie Crawford of Elton; also a sister, Mrs. Julia Dummer.

The funeral, which took place at the home last Saturday, was conducted by Revs. Brown and Rodgers. Interment at Schellsburg. In the death of Mrs. Miller the family has lost a devoted and loving wife and mother, and the people of Springhope a kind neighbor. While we deeply feel her loss, we would bow in divine submission to Him who doeth all things well, and extend to the family so sorely afflicted the sympathy of the community.

Osterburg

January 19—Josiah Imler is added to the sick list at present.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson IV.—First Quarter, For Jan. 24, 1909.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Acts iii, 1-26. Memory Verses 9, 10—Golden Text, Acts iii, 16—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Copyright, 1908, by American Press Association.]

In this chapter we have another testimony from Peter to the power of the risen, living Christ in the presence of a large congregation in the temple, who were gathered to see the man who had been lame from his birth now perfectly healed. In this discourse Peter looks back not only to the death and resurrection of Christ, but away farther back to the prophecies concerning Him and to the covenant made with Abraham and then onward to the time of His coming again to restore all things of which the prophets have spoken. Thus we have another example of the contents of the Scriptures and how to use them—the humiliation and suffering of Christ, the center of all, and the kingdom of the church. See in I Pet. i, 11; iv, 13; v, 1, his repeated references to the sufferings of Christ and the glory that shall follow. It is written in Isa. xxxv, 6, among other samples of kingdom life, that "the lame shall leap as an hart," and in this man of our lesson walking and leaping and praising God we have a fulfillment of that prophecy, for, as I understand it, the kingdom was not irrevocably postponed till by the martyrdom of Stephen they rejected the Holy Spirit, as they had the Father and the Son.

As the apostles preached the good news there were not thousands saved every day or every week, but daily some saved ones were added to the church (ii, 47). There is quite a contrast between helping a poor blind beggar and winning thousands of souls, and yet the former may as truly glorify God as the latter. Not many lives are filled with startling events, but every redeemed life may be filled with so called commonplaces to the glory of God. I find much help and comfort in meditating upon the life that was lived in the humble home and the carpenter shop of Nazareth, with which the Father testified that He was well pleased.

In the opening verses of our lesson the temple is very prominent, but neither tabernacle nor temple was anything apart from Him who said, "Let them make Me a sanctuary, that I may dwell among them" (Ex. xxv, 8), one greater than the temple, who when He cleansed it said, "Make not My Father's house an house of merchandise" (Matt. xii, 6; John ii, 16). While, as a rule, there was at this time no real worship of God in the temple, we must remember such as Zacharias and Simeon and Anna and that our Lord Jesus Himself often taught the people there. The gate Beautiful is at least suggestive of Him who is "altogether lovely" (S. of Sol. v, 16) and points onward to the time of the kingdom when the walls of the city shall be called Salvation and her gates Praise (Isa. lvi, 18). The inhabitant shall not say, I am sick, and there shall be no more death nor sorrow nor crying nor pain on the whole earth (Isa. xxxviii, 24; Rev. xxi, 4). The needy, the poor and him that hath no helper shall find a true helper in the King who shall then reign in righteousness (Ps. lxxii; Isa. xxxiii, 1, 17). If any would inquire why this man was born lame, see John ix, 3, and lay to heart verse 4 and let God work His works in us. This poor man asked, "expecting to receive" (verse 5), which is more than can be said of many who profess to pray to God. May Ps. lxix, 5, become truly our own experience. We see in the days in which we live an unprecedented grasping for silver and gold because of that which people think it will do for them, because they know not the Scriptures, that "neither silver nor gold shall deliver them in the day of the Lord's wrath," and that no rich man can by any means redeem a soul nor give to God a ransom (Zeph. i, 18; Ps. xlix, 6, 7). In Jesus Christ, the Creator of all things, who alone can truly say, "The silver is mine and the gold is mine" (Eph. i, 8), are durable riches and righteousness and health for body and soul. To know Him as Peter and John did is better than all earth's riches or wisdom or might (Jer. ix, 23, 24). Peter washed, sanctified, justified and Spirit filled is in such conscious fellowship with the risen Christ that he can be such a channel of health from Christ to this lame man that all the people can see it. All believers should be in such fellowship with Christ that something of His life and power might be seen in each of us, to the glory of God (Phil. i, 20; II Cor. iv, 11).

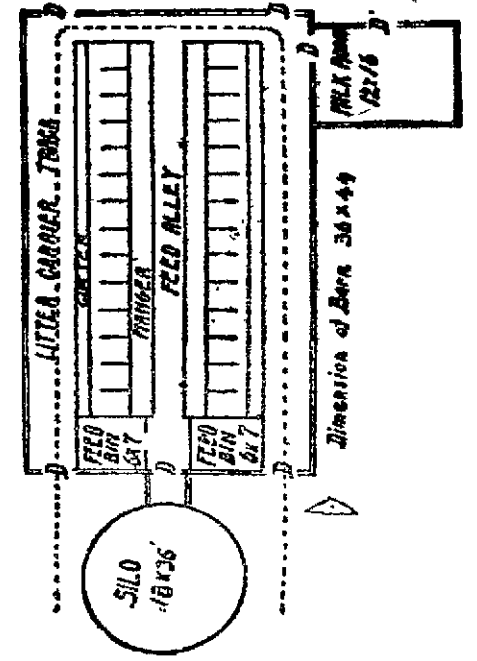

Talking to Israelites, Peter magnified the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, whose son Jesus, the Holy One, the Just, the Prince of Life, had been killed by them, but by God had been raised from the dead, and insists that in His name alone had this lame man been healed. He therefore urges them to change their minds about Jesus and receive Him as their Saviour and Messiah and thus obtain the forgiveness of sins. The gospel that does not proclaim the forgiveness of sins through Jesus Christ is not the gospel of God, but some other which does not proceed from God, but from the devil. Moses and all the prophets foretold a Messiah who should suffer before He should reign, and Peter urges them as children of the prophets and of the covenant not to miss the inheritance within their reach.

BUILDING THE DAIRY BARN.

My plan is intended to represent a barn for cows only, writes a well known dairyman in the Homestead. It is intended for a dairy farm where a specialty is made of dairying. The horses, dry cows and calves are supposed to be kept in other buildings separate from the cow barn. One does not have to be in the business long till he sees the wisdom of such a course. By so doing he is able to keep the cow barn more sanitary. The calves bawling in their pens do not irritate the cows, nor are the dry cows constantly mixing up with the milkers in and out of the barn, which often renders it difficult to feed according to their needs. The old adage has it that "no house is large enough for two families," and while we have sympathy and can find excuse for the man who cannot afford two barns, he can at least separate the cow from the horse and other animals with a tight, dust proof partition.

The plan suggested here shows the silo 18 by 36, which will hold approximately 180 tons of corn silage, which would feed twenty-eight head of cows 321 days at forty pounds per cow each day. It will be seen that the feed is all in close proximity to the cows, the bins containing chop feed and concentrates and the silage all being connected with the feeding alley and where the cows cannot get into the bins when turning in or out. Personally I think it much better to have the feeding alley in the center and let the cows face it than to have the alleys along the wall with a drive through the center.

Where one person is stabling the cows it is much handier to stanchion them where they face, as they file in one at a time and take their places, when the herdsman can immediately close the stanchion, and when they are all in they are fastened. The other way the cows are darting from one side to the other, which mixes up the cattle and annoys the herdsman. In cleaning the barn where a litter carrier is used there is no advantage in having the gutters near each other, as only one can be cleaned at a time, anyway. In case one wishes to use a spreader or wagon and haul the manure to the field at once, which on the most of farms is very inconvenient and impracticable for various reasons, I can see no necessity of having a driveway through the barn, as in this case the silo would have to be placed at one

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is wetted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first study should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a Home of Swamp-Root pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

BLOOD

We live by our blood, and on it. We thrive or starve, as our blood is rich or poor. There is nothing else to live on or by.

When strength is full and spirits high we are being refreshed—bone, muscle and brain, in body and mind—with continual flow of rich blood. This is health.

When weak, in low spirits, no cheer, no spring, when rest is not rest and sleep is not sleep, we are starved; our blood is poor; there is little nutriment in it.

Back of the blood is food, to keep the blood rich. When it fails, take corner, which makes feeding still more complicated.

Again, with the system of ventilation shown here, the pure air comes in at the ends of the feeding alley, where the cows breathe it before it is contaminated by flowing over the gutters, and then, passing between the cows, finds an exit at the wall between the studding and rafters and finally at the ventilator. This is the King system of ventilation, in which the air is sucked in near the floor and carried through a shaft to within one foot of the ceiling, where the cold air spreads out over the room and gradually warms and becomes laden with impurities as it falls and is gradually drawn to the exit shafts. The shafts can be made by boxing up the space between the 2 by 6 studding and rafters. To make an air tight job along the sheathing on the roof use building paper.

The frame is made balloon style, 2 by 6's being used for studding eighteen feet long, two foot centers. Joists and upper ties should be 2 by 8; joists two foot centers, ties and purlin posts six feet apart. These should be double and lashed on either side of the ties. The outside dimensions of the barn are shown on plan. The lower floor should be made of cement, the upper floor of matched common or a good grade of shiplap, so the dust cannot get through. Modern swing stanchions should be used.

The milk room should have a cement tank through which cold water from the well should flow and then pass out into the stock tank. It should be fitted up with gasoline engine and live shaft, so that all machinery necessary in handling the milk and churning can be driven and so that a milking machine can be operated if desired. A good plan is to inclose the engine in one corner to prevent the odor of gasoline and lubricating oil from entering the milk.

Objection to Oat Straw Bedding. One of the objections to oat straw for bedding for swine is that it becomes sour and damp quickly and unless changed very frequently is liable to cause the skin of the pigs to become irritated and sore.

"Setting the River on Fire."

In old English times, when each family was obliged to sift its own flour, it sometimes happened that an over-zealous man would turn his sieve so rapidly as to cause it to catch fire. The style of sieve used in those days was called a "temse," and it became a customary saying that a lazy man would never set the temse on fire. Now, it happens that the name of the river Thames is pronounced like the name of this old flour sieve, and after many years, when the old fashioned temse was forgotten, it was thought that setting the temse on fire meant setting the river on fire, and that is why today we say that a stupid person will never set the river on fire.

Today's Suggestion by Ellen Stan.

SERGE SKIRT IN SHEATH EFFECT.

BEFORE making your new skirt you should order a pair of straight stays without the slightest suggestion of a waist line. If your hips are large and cannot be laced in, your waist must be made larger to correspond with the hips. Some of the new corsets for stout women do not touch the body at the waist line in order to give the desired effect from the bust down.

In order to have the plain straight back it is better to have the stays laced in the front, so that the back line will never be changed.

Next of importance is the petticoat or underskirt, and the "sheath-bocker" of satin or seventeen solves many difficulties. It may be bought or made at home and consists of a tight fitted corset cover and a knickerbocker.

For the women who are not willing to give up feminine petticoats there will be no harm done to the set of the skirt if a five gored pattern of the latter is selected, made in habit style in the back and closed on the left side of the front gore. Thus prepared for having your skirt fit, you may expect to obtain the fashionable lines. The model illustrated can be used either as a separate skirt to wear with shirt waists or a part of a suit, and if intended for dressy occasions it can be made from broadcloth.

This eight gored plaited skirt closes on the left side of the front. The pattern is cut in six sizes—from 22 to 32 inches waist measure. To copy it for the average person requires 6 1/2 yards of material 36 inches wide or 5 1/2 yards 44 inches wide.

Any reader of this paper who desires to secure this pattern may do so by sending 10 cents to this office. Give the number, 4375, state size desired and write the full address plainly. The pattern will be forwarded promptly by mail.

Y. M. C. A. for Hyndman

The town of Hyndman has long felt the need of an organization, the purpose of which would be to conserve the energy and encourage the latent talent of the young men of the community, an association which would take the young men away from the street corners, the saloons, and gambling dives, and provide for them social attractions amidst good wholesome surroundings.

This need is about to be realized in the organization of a society similar to the Young Men's Christian Association, which had its origin in the meeting of a company of young people at the home of N. A. Blair Tuesday evening. Committees were appointed to canvass the town and secure the co-operation of the business men and others in order to put the organization upon a stable financial basis.

Rooms have been secured in the Blair building, where the necessary equipment will be installed and a reading room and library opened.

This modest yet earnest effort of a few of the deserving young men should appeal to the sympathies and secure the co-operation of the entire community, since this is a movement which will result in the social uplift and mental and moral development of the home life of all interested.

Hyndman, January 20, 1909.

Lincoln-Day Song

Composed by J. H. Cessna, principal of the Washington school, Altoona, and for nine years, superintendent of the schools of this county. (Tune—Maryland, My Maryland.)

We celebrate your name in song,
Abraham, Our Abraham.
To us alone you do belong,
Abraham, Our Abraham.

No other country can lay claim,
To any part of your great fame,
We honor and adore your name
Abraham, Our Abraham.

You got no lordly, titled name,
Abraham, Our Abraham.
From royal birth or empty fame,
Abraham, Our Abraham.

Your humble mother—Nancy Hanks,
Gave you to us from labor's ranks,
With heart of love, worth more than banks,
Abraham, Our Abraham.

Your voice was heard in halls of state,
Abraham, Our Abraham.
Among the noble, wise and great,
Abraham, Our Abraham.

Your eloquence made nations stare,
In wisdom they could not compare,
Nor with your statesmanship so rare,
Abraham, Our Abraham.

You stand in rank with Washington,
Abraham, Our Abraham.
Our noble, great immortal one,
Abraham, Our Abraham.

With Adams too and Jefferson,
Monroe, Calhoun and Madison,
And Webster, Clay and Hamilton,
Abraham, Our Abraham.

A nation slave and yet half free,
Abraham, Our Abraham.
Can not endure, you did decree
Abraham, Our Abraham.

You took from slaves their heavy weight,
In liberty you placed their fate,
And taught them tyranny to hate,
Abraham, Our Abraham.

Your death was mourned from shore
to shore,
Abraham, Our Abraham.
Our people loved you all the more,
Abraham, Our Abraham.

A hundred years have passed away,
And now a grateful nation may
Commemorate your Natal Day,
Abraham, Our Abraham.

"How Six Men Proposed to Her."

Women say that men propose very badly. Perhaps this is only natural, for it would be a very unlucky man who got much practice. You will find the subject entertaining, and perhaps instructive. It's by Gertrude Morrison, in the February issue of The Ladies' Home Journal.

Now, we will "propose" something to you—that you visit the counter at which we have a wide variety of The Ladies' Home Journal Patterns. These patterns are increasingly popular, and the reason is found in the solid, substantial help they give to the woman who insists on dressing well, whether she spends little or much.

The Journal, itself, is on sale at our counter, each month, at 15 cents per copy, or we will forward your annual subscription direct to the publishers at $1.50 per year.
